Vegetatio 102: 201–202, 1992.

Volume contents

Ernst, W. H. O., E. M. Veenendaal & M. M. Kebakile, Possibilities for dispersal in annual and perennial grasses in a savanna in Botswana 1
Meilleur, A., A. Bouchard & Y. Bergeron, The use of understory species as indicators of landform ecosystem type in heavily disturbed forest: an evaluation in the Haut-Saint-Laurent, Quebec 13
Fernández Prieto J. A. & A. Bueno Sánchez, A new classification of the forests of the Muniellos Biological Reserve in Northwest Spain 33
Kellomäki, S. & M. Kolström, Simulation of tree species composition and organic matter accumulation in Finnish boreal forests under changing climatic conditions 47
Odland, A., A synecological investigation of Matteuccia struthiopteris – dominated stands in Western Norway 69 de las Heras-Ibáñez, J., J. Guerra, J. Hernández-Bastida & J.M. Herranz, Synchronic study of the bryophytic vegetation of five burnt zones in SE Spain 97
Pandey, C.B. & J.S. Singh, Influence of rainfall and grazing on herbage dynamics in a seasonally dry tropical savanna 107
Sim, J.W.S., H.T.W. Tan & I.M. Turner, Adinandra belukar: an anthropogenic heath forest in Singapore 125
Tarrega, R., L. Calvo & L. Trabaud, Effect of high temperatures on seed germination of two woody Leguminosae 139
Kitayama, K., An altitudinal transect study of the vegetation on Mount Kinabalu, Borneo 149
Schieving, F., M.J.A. Werger & T. Hirose, Canopy structure, nitrogen distribution and whole canopy photosynthetic carbon gain in growing and flowering stands of tall herbs 173
Shmida, A. & M.J.A. Werger, Growth form diversity on the Canary Islands 183
Volume contents 201